KC
Called 2003 Silk 2021

Practice Summary

Oliver is recommended by the legal directories for real estate, telecommunications and agriculture & rural affairs. He was Chambers and Partners Real Estate Junior of the Year in 2020 and was appointed silk in 2021.

His most recent cases involve diverse questions such as disputes involving the dissolution of large family farming partnerships, commercial office space, forfeiture claims relating to development sites, easement disputes, overage claims and restrictive covenants impeding development. He has also dealt with diverse issues such as undue influence, adverse possession, and implied trusts of land in the Privy Council. His publications are set out below.

He has a specialism in telecommunications cases, and appeared in most of the early, and many of the later, cases in which Code principles were established, including University of London (Court of Appeal), Compton Beauchamp (Supreme Court), Green (Court of Appeal) and a number of Upper Tribunal cases in which valuation and other matters were settled (e.g. Hanover, Stephenson and Vache Farm). He works with WIPs, MNOs and fixed line operators. He is, with Wayne Clark, leading the Chambers team that will produce the second edition of the Chambers book on Electronic Communications Law and Practice.

Oliver has a developing interest in the impact of green issues on private law relationships, and has lectured on MEES and the landlord and tenant relationship, alternative green uses of rural land, and the applicability of the measured duty of care to issues arising out of climate change.
